

Manning Named Dean of SWOSU Sayre Campus

03.22.2012

Sherron Manning has been named the Dean of the College of Associate and Applied Sciences on the Southwestern Oklahoma State University-Sayre campus.

Manning had been serving as interim dean since this past September. She served as director of counseling and assessment at the Sayre campus since 2004.

Prior to her employment at SWOSU, she was a science teacher (biology, chemistry, physics, computer science) at Erick High School for 10 years and a science teacher at Altus Junior High School for one year.

Manning has both a Bachelor of Science in Secondary Natural Science Education and a Master of Education in School Counseling from SWOSU.

Dr. Blake Sonobe, senior vice president and provost at SWOSU, said Manning brings a wealth of educational and administrative experience to the position.
